New and Valuable Tide Table for 110 Places.

To find the time of high-water at any of the places named in the following table, add the time indicated in the first column of figures to the time of "Moon South," or "Moon on Meridian," found in the calendar pages. If the result is more than 12 hours from noon, the time will be the next day in the morning; and if more than 12 hours from midnight, the time will be in the afternoon of the same day. The tide thus found is the first after the Moon's culmination. The second tide occurs 12 hours and 26 minutes later than the first.

To Get Correct Time.

When the shadow cast by the Sun reaches the noon-mark, set the clock at the time given in calendar pages of this Almanac, in the column of "Sun at Noon-mark," and it will be exactly-right. If a meridian line is used instead of a noon-mark, the passing the lines by the Sun's center is the moment for setting the clock. Any skillful surveyor can make a noon-mark or meridian lines of small brass or copper wires. In doing so, he must allow for the variation of the magnetic needle from a true or astronomical north and south line.

A Table of Sixty-one Bright Stars.

To ascertain when any Star found in the following Table will be on the upper meridian, add the numbers opposite in the left-hand column of figures to the time of "Sidereal Noon" found in the calendar pages. For the rising of a star, subtract the number opposite in the right-hand column of figures from its meridian passage. For the setting of a star, add the same number to its meridian passage. Those marked (....) revolve in a circle of perpetual apparition, and do not rise nor set north of the latitude of New York ($40^{\circ} 42' 40''$), for which latitude the semi-diurnal arcs are calculated. The civil day begins at midnight, and consequently 24 hours after midnight, or 12 hours from noon, is morning of the succeeding day; and more than 24 hours from noon, is evening of the next day. From 12h. to 24h. from midnight, or from 0h. to 12h. from noon, will be in the afternoon of the same day. This table is arranged in the order of culmination.

Surveyors and Civil Engineers may obtain the declination of the magnetic needle by observations on the Pole Star when upon the meridian, or when at the greatest elongation east or west. POLARIS and other stars pass the lower meridian 11h. 58m. after their upper transit. To the time of upper transit of Polaris, add 5h. 54m. and it gives the time of greatest western elongation. If the 5h. 54m. be subtracted from the time of upper transit, it will give the time of greatest eastern elongation. Observations made at the time of greatest elongation are less liable to error than those made at the time of transit. The mean distance of Polaris from the pole this year is $1^{\circ} 21' 45.24''$. To find its azimuth for any latitude, take from 18.3761941 the logarithmic cosine of the latitude, and the remainder is the logarithmic sine of the azimuth.

NOTE.—In the table above it is to be understood that the word "near" and the character \nearrow (conjunction) are synonymous, and mean that the two bodies are nearer each other at the time expressed, and that they are then on a line running from the North Pole through both bodies, and have the same right ascension. GR. ELON. means greatest elongation or greatest apparent angular distance from the SUN. STATIONARY means that the planet is then without apparent motion east or west with respect to the Stars, and is about to move in a direction contrary to that it last had. The character \searrow indicates that the planet is opposite the Sun, or 180 deg., or a half circle, east of it, and rises when the Sun sets, and sets when he rises. When a planet is a quarter of a circle, or 90 deg. from the Sun, east or west, it is known by \square .

PLANETARY CHARACTERS.— δ Mercury, \circ Venus, δ Mars, \nearrow Jupiter, h Saturn, Υ Uranus, \square Neptune, \bullet Moon.

The above table enables us to find the planets throughout the year.

To ascertain the Length of the Day and Night, at any time of the year, add 12 hours to the time of the Sun's setting, and from the sum subtract the time of rising, for the length of the day. Subtract the time of setting from 12 hours, and to the remainder add the time of rising next morning, for the length of the night. These rules are equally true for apparent time.

Leap-Year.—Every year the number of which is divisible by 4 without a remainder is a leap-year, except the last year of the century, which is a leap-year only when divisible by 400 without a remainder. Thus the year 1900 will not be a leap-year.

The Asteroids.

About 119 little planets, called Asteroids, have been discovered between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter. Some of them are so small that to call them worlds might seem inappropriate. But any body having an orbit, though not larger than a cannon-ball, is entitled to rank as a world. Many such may exist which will never be discovered because of their littleness. Very little asteroidal bodies are revolving around the earth, as the moon does. The aerolites, or falling stones, are really such asteroids whose orbits cross the earth's orbit, or else wind spirally inward to the earth as a center.

Moon Apogee, 5th; Perigee, 17th; Highest, 25th; Lowest, 12th.

For a funeral notice the following is not bad:

The death-angel smote Alexander McGlue,

And gave him protracted repose;

He wore a checked shirt and a number nine shoe

And he had a pink wart on his nose.

No doubt he is happier dwelling in space

Over there on the evergreen shore:

His friends are informed that his funeral takes place

Precisely at quarter past four!

The witty George W. Barton, of Philadelphia, was an eminent lawyer who had served a term upon the bench. Trying a case one day before a judge who was chiefly remarkable for obtuseness, he incidentally and audaciously remarked that he had often seen a great ass in judicial robes. "You speak from experience, I suppose," was the angry retort. "Not at all," replied Barton; "I am speaking directly from observation."

A GENTLEMAN may be defined as a man of unimpeachable honor and gallantry, dignified carriage, spotless reputation, a high mind and liberal views.

ASBESTOS ROOFING.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT ASBESTOS ROOFING was justly awarded the highest Premium (Medal) by the AMERICAN INSTITUTE in 1870, 1871, 1872, and 1873.

It has a larger sale than any other portable or composition Roofing in use, and is shipped to nearly all parts of the world. It is adapted for all climates, and can be readily applied by any one. See page 106 at end of this book.

STEPHEN GIRARD'S will prohibited clergymen from ever entering the doors of Girard College. At a recent visit of the Knights Templar of Boston to the Institution, one of the Knights, a well known physician, who wears a white necktie, was passing in, when the janitor accosted him, saying: "You can't pass in here, sir; the rule forbids it." "Tho h—I can't," replied the physician. "All right, sir," rejoined the janitor; "pass right in."

THE following dialogue occurred in the Faubourg St. Honore, Paris, between a patriarchal gentleman and his granddaughter: "What makes your hair so white, grandpa?" inquired the maiden. "I am very old, my dear; I was in the ark," says grandpapa, humorously, hint with a reckless regard for truth. "Oh," says the child, regarding her relative with a fresh interest, "are you Noah?" "No, I am not Noah." "Are you Shem, then?" "No, I am not Shem." "Are you Ham?" "No, I am not even Ham." "Then you must be Japhet," says mademoiselle, at the end of her historical tether, and growing rather impatient at the difficulty that surrounded her aged relative's identification. "No, I am not Japhet." "Then, grandpa, you're a beast."

A MAN with a pistol bullet in his left side, an inch above his heart, a six-inch cut on his head, and a fractured leg, called at a Bangor doctor's office to get fixed up, the other morning. He said they had been having some fun "over at a house."

We have somewhere met with the following, which is more in the style of word-twisting of our modern hurblesque writers. It is on the bankruptcy of a person of the name of Homer:

That Homer should a bankrupt be,
Is not so very Odd D'-ye See,
If it be true, as I'm instructed,
So Ill-he-had his books conducted.

THE DONKEY AND HIS DOUBLE.—Judge Norbury was interrupted in his charge to a jury once by the loud braying of a donkey in the street of the assize town.

"What is that?" asked his lordship.

Mr. Parsons (with whom his lordship had just had a fiery flare-up) rose and gravely assured him that it was merely the "echo of the court."

SOME years ago, a fat fellow asked Sir Francis Burdett, while in Parliament, for some position, saying, "Don't you remember me? I used to be a page." "Well," responded Sir Francis; "you have grown into a volume."

A WESTERN editor says he saw a beautiful maiden in the street, the other day, "who had what seemed to be a stake and rider fence of lace around her sloping neck so high she was compelled to tip-toe in order to see over it." Is not this rather ruff?

A SCOTTISH clergyman, says the Saturday Review, quoted a text of Scripture in his prayer, and added for the instruction of his audience, "For that, O Lord! is the correct translation of the passage."

A SEA captain, who was invited to confer with a society for evangelizing Africa, was asked if the subjects of the King of Dahomy kept the Sabbath. "Yes," was the reply, "and everything else they lay hands on."

Moon Apogee, 20th; Perigee, 7th; Highest, 12th; Lowest, 25th.

An old gentleman of the name of Gould, having married a very young wife, wrote a poetical epistle to a friend to inform him of it, and concluded it thus:

You see, my dear sir, though I'm eighty years old,
A girl of eighteen is in love with old Gould.

To which his friend replied:

A girl of eighteen may love Gould, it is true;
But believe me, dear sir, it is Gould, without U!

A PRIVATE in the army recently sent a letter to his sweetheart, closing with "May Heaven cherish and keep you from yours truly, John Smith."

PUNNING upon names in epitaphs has been common enough. Here is a specimen:

Who killed Kildare? Who dared Kildare to kill?
Death killed Kildare, who dares kill whom he will.

A CHIROPODIST announces on his cards that he has "removed corns from several of the crowned heads of Europe."

EPITAPH.

God takes the good,
Too good on earth to stay;
And leaves the bad,
Too bad to take away.

"This is a funny cheese, Uncle Joe; but where shall I cut it?" "Oh," said the grinning friend. "cut it where you like." "Very well, said the Yankee, coolly putting it under his arm, "I'll cut it at home."

"THERE now," exclaimed a little girl, while rummaging a drawer in the bureau; "grandpa has gone to heaven without his spectacles!"

ASBESTOS ROOFING.

H. W. JOHN'S PATENT ASBESTOS ROOFING is now universally acknowledged to be the best substitute yet produced for tin and other expensive kinds of Roofing. It is suitable for all climates, and can be easily applied by any one.

The Tribune Buildings have been covered several years with this Roofing, which has proven entirely satisfactory—Eds. N. Y. Tribune.

See page at end of this book, 106.

On being told that Bishop Goodenough was appointed to preach before the House of Lords, a wag wrote:—

'Tis well enough that Goodenough
Before the Lords should preach;
For sure enough they're bad enough
He undertakes to teach.

When Goodenough was made a bishop, a certain dignitary, whom the public had expected would get the appointment, being asked by a friend how he came not to be the new bishop, replied: "Because I was not Goodenough."

A young lady in Titusville, Pa., "whose pa had struck it," and who has since been at a boarding school, recently returned, and a party was given by her in honor of the event. On the bottom of her invitation cards she caused to be inscribed, "R. S. V. P.," and one was sent to a fellow who had also made his money by boring. He did not come, but sent a card with the letters, "D. S. C. C." Meeting him one day in the street, she asked him what the letters meant? "Tell me, first, what your's meant?" "Oh! mine was French for 'Respond if you can't accept.'" "Well, mine was English for 'Dam sorry I can't come.'" —

A MARRIED lady being asked to waltz, gave the following sensible and appropriate answer: "No, I thank you, sir; I have hugging enough at home."

Moon Apogee 7th; Perigee, 22d; Highest, 25th; Lowest, 12th.

PLEASURE is to woman what the sun is to the flower. If moderately enjoyed it beautifies, it refreshes, and it improves; if immoderately, it withers, desolates, and destroys. But the duties of domestic life, exercised, as they must be, in retirement, and calling forth all the sensibilities of a woman, are, perhaps, as necessary to the full development of her charms, as the shade and the shower are to the rose, confirming its beauty and increasing its fragrance.

If we are cheerful and contented, all nature smiles with us; the air seems more balmy, the sky more clear, the ground has a brighter green, the trees have a richer foliage, the flowers a more fragrant smell, the birds sing more sweetly, and the sun, moon and stars all appear more beautiful.

One of the most important rules of the science of manners is an almost absolute silence in regard to yourself.

WHEN Curran and Bully Egan met on the field of mortal combat, the latter complained of the advantage his antagonist had over him, declaring that he was as easily hit as a turf stack while as to firing at Curran he might as well fire at a razor's edge. Whereupon Curran waggishly proposed that his size should be chalked out upon Egan's side, and that every shot which hit outside that mark should go for nothing.

The story of Dr. Monntain and the witty Charles II. is strongly characteristic of the times. A bishopric being vacant, Charles happened to ask his chaplain, Dr. Monntain, whom he should appoint. "Why, sire," says the latter, "if your majesty had but faith I would tell you whom." "How so," said the king, "if I had but faith?" "Why, in that case, your Majesty might say to this Monntain, Be thou removed into the sea."

- XV. Suffrage.

CONSTITUTION.

WE, the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION I.

1. All legislative powers herein granted, shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

SECTION 2.

1. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states; and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state Legislature.

2. No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

3. Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three; Massachusetts eight; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one; Connecticut five; New York six; New Jersey four; Pennsylvania eight; Delaware one; Maryland six; Virginia ten; North Carolina five; South Carolina five; and Georgia three.

4. When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

5. The House of Representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECTION 3.

1. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

2. Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

3. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

4. The Vice-President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

5. The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

6. The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

7. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

SECTION 4.

1. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the place of choosing senators.

2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year; and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECTION 5.

1. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

2. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

3. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question, shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

4. Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SECTION 6.

1. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

2. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SECTION 7.

1. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

2. Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated; who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

3. Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary, (except on a question of adjournment), shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him; or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SECTION 8.

The Congress shall have power:

1. To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises; to pay the debts, and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

3. To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes.

4. To establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States.

5. To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures.

6. To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States.

7. To establish post-offices and post-roads.

8. To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.

9. To constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court; to define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations.

10. To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water.

11. To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years.

12. To provide and maintain a navy.

13. To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

14. To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasion.

15. To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States; reserving to the States respectively the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress.

16. To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased, by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dockyards, and other needful buildings; and

17. To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SECTION 9.

1. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

2. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

3. No bill of attainder, or ex post facto law, shall be passed.

4. No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

5. No tax or duty shall be laid on any articles exported from any state. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state, be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another.

6. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

7. No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

SECTION 10.

1. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts; or grant any title of nobility.

2. No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress. No state shall, without the consent of the Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II. SECTION I.

1. The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years; and, together with the Vice-President chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

2. Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

3. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list, the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president, the vote shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of a president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice-president.

4. The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

5. No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

6. In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president; and the Congress may, by law, provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president; and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

7. The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

8. Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States; and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States."

SECTION 2.

1. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States. He may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

2. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper, in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

3. The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SECTION 3.

1. He shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper. He shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECTION 4.

1. The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1.

1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior; and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECTION 2.

1. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

2. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

3. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

SECTION 3.

1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

2. The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason; but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1.

1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state; and the Congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SECTION 2.

1. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

2. A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

3. No person held to service or labor in one state under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor; but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SECTION 3.

1. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the Congress.

2. The Congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claim of the United States, or of any particular state.

SECTION 4.

1. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and, on application of the legislature, or of the executive, (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

1. The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution; or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

1. All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this constitution, as under the confederation.

2. This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

3. The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

1. The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in convention by the unanimous consent of the states present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the twelfth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

GEORGE WASHINGTON,

President, and Deputy from Virginia.

AMENDMENTS.

[The following amendments were proposed at the first session of the first congress of the United States, which was begun and held at the city of New York, on the 4th of March, 1789, and were adopted by the requisite number of states. Laws of the U. S., vol. 1, page 82.]

[The following preamble and resolution preceded the original proposition of the amendments, and as they have been supposed by a high equity judge (8th Wendell's Reports, p. 100) to have an important bearing on the construction of those amendments, they are here inserted. They will be found in the journals of the first session of the first congress.]

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Begun and held at the city of New York, on Wednesday, the 4th day of March, 1789.

The conventions of a number of the states having, at the time of their adopting the constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent inconsistency or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added, and as extending the ground of public confidence in the government will best insure the beneficent ends of its institution:

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, two-thirds of both houses concurring, that the following articles be proposed to the legislatures of the several states, as amendments to the constitution of the United States; all or any of which articles, when ratified by three-fourths of the said legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said constitution, namely:

ARTICLE I.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall he be compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law; and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

[The following amendment was proposed at the second session of the third congress. It is printed in the Laws of the United States, vol. 1, p. 73, as article 11.]

ARTICLE XI.

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

[The three following sections were proposed as amendments at the first session of the eighth congress. They are printed in the Laws of the United States as article 12.]

ARTICLE XII.

1. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. They shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots, the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But, in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

2. The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice-president. A quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

3. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president, shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.

1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1.

All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SECTION 2.

Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice-president of the United States, representatives in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

SECTION 4.

The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SECTION 5.

The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.

SECTION 1.

The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

SECTION 2.

It appears from the foregoing statement that 59 per cent. of the aggregate importations into the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick, during the last Fiscal Year, were from Great Britain, and 32.6 per cent. from the United States of America; the import trade with both these countries, amounting together to upwards of 91 per cent. of the whole importations into those Provinces. This ratio would have been still further increased had the imports into British Columbia and Manitoba been included; but the trade of these new Provinces was necessarily excluded from the comparative part of the statement, owing to the recent date at which they became integral and important portions of the Dominion of Canada.

It is worthy of remark that the trade with the British North American Provinces, outside the Dominion, that is to say Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, is the next in point of rank after Great Britain and the United States, and that the British West Indies follow in order, thus exhibiting, between Canada and Great Britain, and between Canada and Britain's other possessions in this hemisphere, an aggregate amount of purely British Trade, of $94,681,396.

Population of Canadian Cities.

The following table gives the population of the twenty Canadian cities and towns having more than 5,000 inhabitants in 1871:

Cities.	Provinces.	1861.	1871.

(a) The apparent decrease in the populations of Quebec and Kingston is accounted for by the fact that large garrisons in those cities in 1861 were counted as part of the population.

The Shipping of the World.

It will be seen by this that there was a marked falling off in the merchant navy of England in 1872 as compared with 1870, while there was a small increase in the number of American vessels. The effect of the strikes in Great Britain can be seen in the diminished list, the yards in Liverpool, Glasgow, Belfast, Sunderland, and Newcastle being exposed to the chances and uncertainties of the policy of the workman; and Germany shows a falling off from the same cause.

The foregoing is a correct statement of the Public Debt, as appears from the books and Treasurer's Returns in the Department at the close of business, November 30, 1873.

WILLIAM A. RICHARDSON,

Secretary of the Treasury.

THE TRANSPORTATION QUESTION.

Statistics of the Business of the Canals and Trunk Railroads.

From the Western Lake ports to the entrance of the Erie Canal at Buffalo, and to that of the Canadian Welland Canal at Port Colborne, the distances are about equal. Of the 500 miles of water navigation between Buffalo and N. York, 335 are by the Erie Canal. Of the 375 miles of navigation between Port Colborne and Montreal, but 71 miles are canal navigation. The Erie Canal locks are 110 ft. long, 18 ft. wide, and 7 ft. deep. The present locks on the Welland Canal are 150 ft. long, 26½ ft. wide, and 10½ ft. deep. The locks of the enlarged Welland Canal will be 270 ft. long, 45 ft. wide and 12 ft. deep. The Erie Canal is navigable for boats 102 ft. long and 17½ ft. wide, drawing 7 ft. of water, and carrying 200 to 225 tons of cargo. The Welland Canal is navigable for vessels 142½ ft. long and 26 ft. wide, drawing 9½ ft. of water, and carrying 350 to 400 tons of cargo. The enlarged Welland Canal, which will probably be completed within four years, will accommodate vessels carrying from 1000 to 1200 tons of cargo.

It thus appears that the great struggle with the Welland Canal for the carriage of grain from the West to the seaboard, for shipment to Europe, is yet to come off. Meanwhile, the railroads, by their complete organization of through freight lines for the carriage of flour and grain, without transshipment, from the West to every village and town in the East which can be reached by the locomotive, have rapidly increased their grain carrying business, while that of the canal, though stimulated by low tolls and an unusual demand for export to foreign countries, appears to have attained its maximum. Unless, indeed, some means be found of increasing the capacity of the canals, grain will be crowded off by the coal, lumber and other bulky freight, for the transportation of which railroad competition is not so keen.

The Champlain Canal extends from Albany and Troy, on the Hudson River, to Whitehall, on Lake Champlain, a distance of 73 miles from the first-named city. The distance from Whitehall to the junction of the Erie and Champlain canals, is 64 miles. The enlargement of this canal to the same capacity as the Erie, has been proceeding for a number of years, and but a small appropriation is required to complete the work.

* Town, county, and city debt, as given by the Census of 1870.

Notes.

In compiling the above statements of the indebtedness, revenue and expenditures of the several State governments, the object has been to give, as nearly as possible, the actual facts, divested of all technicalities. All bonds of the State held by any sinking or educational fund, have been uniformly deducted from the gross amount of the funded debt. The payment, for the support of public schools for instance, of $100,000 in the shape of interest on State bonds held by a school fund is essentially the same thing as the payment of an appropriation of the same amount. The multiplication of "funds" of every description serves only to involve the financial statements of public officers in such an intricacy of labyrinth that the most clearheaded are only able to ascertain the simplest facts after long labor, while the common mind is absolutely powerless to ascertain how much money is raised or how much expended for the support of government. Indeed, the compiler of these figures frankly confesses that in many cases he is able give only approximate results. Money applied to the extinguishment of funded debt has been deducted from the expenditures. On the same principle the proceeds of loans are excluded from the receipts. In all cases the official statements of indebtedness have been accepted as authoritative, and it is believed that the obligations of the several States, whether floating or funded, have in no case been overstated. Further explanations will be found under the of the several States in the notes below.

Alabama.—In the year 1872-3, $896,680.98 were derived from the sale of bonds, and $120,000 from a temporary loan. A temporary loan of $505,145 was paid off. The above items are not included in the above statement of receipts and expenditures. The expenditures include, however, $178,868.95 for treasury warrants of 1869-72, paid off in 1873. The statement of the debt, which is for Sept. 30, 1872, does not include the indorsement of railroad bonds, which it is estimated will involve the State to the extent of $3,000,000, several of the railroads having defaulted. It is also exclusive of State stock to the amount of $2,801,633.84, held by the Educational Funds of the State.

Arkansas.—The State does not pay the interest on its bonds. The statement of floating debt above given is exclusive of overdue interest on the debt, the amount of which is unknown. The statements of funded and floating debt are those given by the State Treasurer under the date of Aug. 1, 1873.

California.—From the receipts, as officially stated, are deducted $597,812 from sales of bonds, and also the interest on State stocks held by the School and University funds. From the expenditures are deducted $762,148 for bonds paid off and purchased, and also the interest on State stocks paid to the School and University funds. The floating debt consists of unpaid warrants.

Connecticut.—The expenditures do not include $673,400, cash paid for bonds purchased.

Delaware.—This is the only State from which the compiler of these statistics has been unable to obtain official information. The statements of the valuation and indebtedness are derived from the U. S. Census of 1870.

Florida.—Part of the State debt consists of $4,000,000 in bonds issued to the Jacksonville, Pensacola and Mobile Railroad Co., in exchange for the 1st mortgage bonds of that company, under an act of the Legislature, passed Jan. 23, 1870. No interest is paid on this portion of the debt. The floating debt consists of $179,296, interest on bonds, exclusive of the J. P. & M. R. R. bonds above mentioned; $262,045 due the State School and Seminary funds; $165,000 secured by hypothecated bonds; and about $242,000 unpaid warrants, &c.

Georgia.—Of the expenditures as above given, the sum of $692,892 was for the payment of principal and interest on the public debt; $236,162, derived from the sale of bonds and temporary loans, are not included in the above statement of the receipts.

Illinois.—Of the gross expenditures of this State, $2,586,783.60 from the State Debt Fund, and $1,014,372.32 from the Illinois Central Railroad Fund, which had been accumulating in the Treasury, were disbursed in the two years, 1871-2, for the extinguishment of the State debt. The sums given for receipts and expenses are one half of the amounts received and expended during the two years ended Nov. 30, 1872.

Indiana.—Of the funded debt, $3,729,016 consists of non-negotiable bonds held by the School Fund. These are not included in our statement.

Iowa.—The receipts and disbursements are one half the amount for the two years ended Oct. 31, 1873.

Kansas.—The State has a Sinking Fund of $195,527.34. The floating debt consists of unpaid warrants drawn on the Treasury.

Kentucky.—The State of Kentucky has outstanding bonds to the amount of $331,394, but to offset them the Commonwealth has $350,000 in U. S. 6 per cent. 5-20s on deposit in New York with the Bank of North America. Bonds of the State to the amount of $1,628,123 are held by the School Fund.

Maine.—The State has a Sinking Fund of $1,020,247. The State debt, as above given, is exclusive of $998,200 in State bonds held by the Sinking Fund.

Maryland.—As an offset to its debt as above stated, the State owns stocks and bonds, on which the interest and dividends are regularly paid, to the amount of $1,794,856. The receipts, as above given, do not include $361,203.87, raised by the sale of State bonds for the Maryland Hospital and the Deaf and Dumb Asylum.

Massachusetts.—The gross amount of the funded debt of the State, on the 1st of January, 1873, was $27,692,704. From this we have deducted $1,816,600 for bonds of the State held by its sinking and trust funds. The Commonwealth holds, as an offset to its indebtedness, sinking and trust funds to the aggregate amount of $12,999,894, including the $1,816,600 of State bonds above mentioned. Expenditures do not include those defrayed from the proceeds of bonds, as the Hoosac tunnel. The School Fund amounted to $2,182,419.98 on the 1st of January, 1873. The Commonwealth has never taken advantage of the legal tender act to pay the interest on its debts in paper. Since the suspension of specie payments in 1862, the amount paid as premium on purchases of gold to pay interest, has been $2,475,673.

Michigan.—The valuation given is the equalized valuation of 1871. The statement of the funded debt excludes $34,292.78 of past-due debt on which interest has ceased.

Minnesota.—The entire funded debt of the State is held by the Permanent School Fund. There are, however, $2,275,000 in bonds issued in 1858, in aid of railroads, upon which the State has formally refused to pay interest. The valuation given is that of the census of 1870. The Permanent School Fund consists of securities to the par value of $817,800.

Mississippi.—The $7,000,000 repudiated debt of 1833 is not included in the above statement. The floating debt consists of outstanding warrants on the Treasury.

Missouri.—The sum given as the debt of Missouri, does not include $3,000,000 in bonds issued to the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad Company, secured by first mortgage, and upon which the interest is regularly paid by the railroad.

Nebraska.—Except $16,300 in Territorial bonds, held by the School Fund, the State has no bonded indebtedness. The cash in the Treasury is more than sufficient to pay all outstanding warrants. The receipts and disbursements given are one half of the receipts and disbursements for the two years ended Dec. 31, 1872.

Nevada.—This statement of the funded debt does not include $104,000 of the State's bonds held by the School Fund. The cash in the Treasury is more than sufficient to pay the outstanding warrants.

New Hampshire.—In the statement of receipts and expenditures, we have omitted $226,450 obtained by a temporary loan and payments of $317,700 of the principal of the State debt. The valuation is that given by the U. S. census of 1870.

New Jersey.—The statements of receipts and expenditures include $1,168,803, the proceeds of a tax of two mills on the taxable property of the State at large, apportioned to the several counties in proportion to the number of children between the ages of 5 and 18.

New York.—The receipts include $1,202,571, surplus canal revenues over cost of superintendence and ordinary repairs; and $854,197.07 from earnings of State Prison convicts. Receipts from taxes and payments of $2,610,784 for the support of Schools are included in the receipts and expenditures. The expenditures are exclusive of or inary canal repairs and redemptions of State debt. The amount of the State debt is exclusive of $4,133,305 in State bonds held by the Trust and Sinking Funds. A special tax to the amount of $7,000,000, was collected in 1873, which will still further reduce the State debt when paid into the Treasury. The amount of town, county and city debts is obtained from the statistics collected by Mr. Calkins, Clerk of the Constitutional Commission, in January, 1873.

Oregon.—The sums given for receipts and expenditures are one half the amounts for the two years ended Sept. 9, 1872.

Pennsylvania.—The receipts do not include $100,000 received from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., in payment of its debt to the State, and the expenditures are also exclusive of $2,476,253, applied by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to the redemption of the State debt. The State holds the bonds of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for $9,300,000, which may fairly be considered a deduction from the amount of the debt as above stated. It also holds $1,754,322 stock in various turnpike, bridge, canal, railroad and navigation companies. The valuation given is that of the U. S. censuses of 1870.

Rhode Island.—The valuation is that given by the U. S. censuses of 1870. The expenditures are exclusive of $75,000 for redemption of State bonds.

South Carolina.—The valuation given is that of the census of 1870. The statement of receipts and expenditures is for nine months only. The expenditures include not a cent for interest on the State debt. The statements of the funded and floating debt are taken from Gov. Moses's Message of Oct. 21, 1873.

Tennessee.—The sum given as the debt of Tennessee represents the liabilities of the State after deducting bonds indorsed which are good, bonds of the State paid into the Treasury by various railroads, and amounts due to the State by solvent railroads. The receipts and expenditures are for four-fifths of fifteen months.

Texas.—$544,745 of the floating debt consists of unpaid warrants on the Treasury.

Virginia.—The sum given as funded debt, represents two thirds of the debt on the 30th Sept., 1872, and accrued interest up to July 1, 1871, the other third "being deferred for settlement with West Virginia." The stocks and bonds of the State held by the Literary Fund ($1,029,113) are not included as part of the debt of the Commonwealth. The valuation given is that of the census of 1870.

West Virginia.—This State, as yet, has incurred no debt. The amount given is one third of the debt of the old State of Virginia, which the latter holds that West Virginia should assume.

Wisconsin.—$2,233,900 of the nominal debt of this State is in the shape of certificates of indebtedness to the Educational funds. The aggregate amount of taxes levied in Wisconsin in 1872, was $7,395,131; viz., State tax, $751,774; County taxes, $1,777,651; County school taxes, $257,575; Town taxes, $2,447,067; School district taxes, $1,263,605; Road district taxes, $867,759.

Local Indebtedness of the State of New York.

The following is a comparative statement by counties of the bonded debts of the counties, cities, towns, and villages of the State of New York in the years 1870 and 1873. The figures for the year 1870 are mostly taken from the Census. Those for 1873 were collected last winter for the Constitutional Commission then sitting at Albany. The amounts given for the cities of New York and Brooklyn are the net debt, after deducting the Sinking Funds. The aggregate amount of taxation for the year 1872-3 is annexed. For the county of New York the amount stated is that raised last autumn. The counties are arranged in the order of their population:

Pennsylvania's New Constitution.

This instrument contains many things that are new, and some that are good. Apparently, ample provision is made against hasty or unduly considered legislation, against unnecessary special and local legislation, and for the prevention of or punishment for corrupt legislation. The executive department consists of a Governor and Lieutenant Governor elected for four years; a Secretary of State, Attorney-General, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, appointed by the Governor and Senate; a Secretary of Internal Affairs, an Auditor General and State Treasurer, to be elected by the people. Neither the Governor nor either of the elective State officers is eligible for the succeeding term. The judicial power of the State is vested in a Supreme Court of seven judges, Courts of Common Pleas, and other inferior courts. The judges are elective, Supreme Court judges for 21 years, ineligible for a second term, and inferior judges for 10 and 5 years. Provision is made for minority representation in the election of judges in certain cases, and also in the election of Directors or Trustees of Corporate Companies. In all cases of felonious homicide, the accused, after conviction and sentence, is entitled to take his case before the Supreme Court for review. Parties to civil suits may, by agreement, dispense with jury trial. On taking office, each officer elect is required to swear that he did not pay or promise to pay any money or other thing of value to procure his nomination or election, other than proper expenses authorized by law; and that he will not accept extra-judicial pay or consideration for the performance or non-performance of his official duty. False swearing in this regard is made perjury. The pardoning power of the Governor can only be exercised by the concurrence of the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General and Secretary of Internal Affairs, or any three of them. All elections are to be by ballot, and every ballot is to be numbered in the order in which it is received, the number to be recorded opposite the name upon the poll list. No Federal or State officer can be a Judge or Inspector of Election. The Court of Common Pleas may, on application of 5 voters in any election district, appoint overseers of election to supervise the proceeding of election officers. Any candidate for office guilty of bribery, fraud, or violation of any election law, shall be forever after disqualified from holding office. In acting on Executive nominations, the Senate must sit with open doors and enter the yeas and nays upon the journal. No Senator or Representative can be appointed to any civil office during the term for which he was elected, and no person holding any other civil office can be a member of the Legislature. The State must maintain public schools for all children over 6 years of age, and appropriate not less than $1,000,000 per annum for that purpose. Any woman 21 years of age and upward, is eligible to any school office. No Federal officer can hold a State office. No State debt shall be created except for casual deficiencies in the revenue, to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, to defend the State in time of war, or to pay existing debt. No deficiency debt to exceed $1,000,000.

Robert W. Mackey's maj. for Treasurer, 25352; Isaac G. Gordon's maj. for Judge of the Supreme Court, 12866; Ulysses Mercu's maj. in 1872 for Judge of the Supreme Court, 40443; David Stanton's maj. in 1871 for Auditor-General, 14575. The vote of Pennsylvania, leaving out the City and County of Philadelphia, compares as follows: 1873, Hutchinson, 18,205; Mackey, 18,516; Hutchinson's maj. 59; Ludlow, 18,214; Gordon, 18,875; Gordon's maj. 5361. 1872, Thompson, 26,545;

Mercu, 28,6207; Mercu's maj. 21,642. Net Democratic gain over 1872: On vote for Treasurer, 21,701; on vote for Judge, 16,281. The net loss to the Republicans on the vote for Treasurer, compared with that for Judge, in 1873, is 5,120. In 1871, the counties outside of Philadelphia voted as follows for Auditor-General: McCandless, Dem., 21,911; Stanton, Rep., 22,202; Stanton's maj. 2081. From a comparison of the honestly counted vote for Judge in 1873 with that for Auditor-General in 1871, it would appear that, beyond the lack of interest shown by a falling off of about 9000 votes in the aggregate, there had been little change in the political sentiment of Pennsylvania. Mr. Hutchinson, in all probability, was the choice of a majority of the voters of the whole State for Treasurer. Total vote for Treasurer in 1873, 46,1204; for Judge of the Supreme Court in 1873, 46,6178; for Judge of the Supreme Court in 1872, 66,8195; for Auditor-General in 1871, 55,3619.

NORTH CAROLINA.

By an amendment to the Constitution, adopted by popular vote in August, 1873, the sessions of the Legislature are hereafter to be held once in two years. Several other amendments were adopted at the same time, but they are of no interest to people outside of the State, except that by which the constitutional obligation to consider the public debt "inviolable and not to be questioned," is erased from the Constitution.

The Tribune for 1874.

A YEAR AGO the editor of THE TRIBUNE promised to make this journal, during 1873, a much more valuable and complete newspaper than it had ever been before, and it now points to the achievements of these past twelve months with pardonable pride. Its purpose in 1874 is to surpass its previous record, strengthening its organization in every department, adding to its facilities for publishing the news of the world in advance of all competitors, while fully sustaining its ancient renown as the recognized organ of cultivated and thinking men, and a high authority in literature, science, and art. Never a neutral in politics, THE TRIBUNE is entirely independent of all parties and partizans. It maintains as earnestly as ever, and will always defend the republican principles of equality and justice, with which, under the control of its illustrious founder, HORACE GREELEY, it was for over thirty years identified. It values parties solely as means for securing honest government on sound principles, holds itself aloof from all entangling alliances, waits for the dictum of no caucus or convention, judges of every political act of whatever party solely on its own merits, and maintains the liberty of candid and impartial criticism. THE TRIBUNE endeavors to combine in its editorial discussions frankness with courtesy to all, and wastes no space in personal or professional wrangles with other papers. That the American public appreciate the efforts of THE TRIBUNE is sufficiently proved by the record of the past year. The beginning of 1874 finds the paper more prosperous than ever before, and the limits to its future usefulness and success widening and disappearing on every hand.

HEALTH! BEAUTY!

Strong, Pure, and Rich Blood, Increase of Flesh and Weight, Clear Skin and Beautiful Complexion, secured to all, through

DR. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Every drop of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Consumption, Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands, and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all Weakening and Painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it, for either of these forms of disease, its potent power to cure them. If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood, and this the Sarsaparillian will and does secure, a cure is certain; for, when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing. Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases, but it is the only positive cure for Kidney, Bladder, Urinary and Womb Diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick-dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substance like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white hone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back along the Loins.

Tumor of 12 years' growth cured by Radway's Resolvent.

BEVERLY, MASS., July 18, 1869.

DR. RADWAY: I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended, but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it, but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for TWELVE YEARS. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, one box of Radway's Pills, and used two bottles of your READY RELIEF; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel BETTER, SMARTER, and happier than I have for 12 years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish if you choose. * * *

For the Toilet, Bath, and Nursery, and as a Hair Renovator this Soap has no equal. The proof is its unprecedented popularity.

It is THE SOAP for the people. All who use it say, "Try CONSTANTINE'S Soap; we want no other."

It cures Pimples on the Face, Prickly Heat, Chafing, Eruptions, Chapped Hands, Salt Rheum, Frosted Feet, Burns, Fresh Cuts, or Wounds of all kinds, Diseases of the Scalp and Skin, and is a GOOD SHAVING SOAP. It beautifies the Complexion by keeping the skin soft and smooth.

In presenting the above Soap, the proprietors feel confident that it merits all the praise which has been bestowed upon it by those who have used it.

The great and rapidly-increasing demand for this Soap places it foremost in the line of FINE SOAPS FOR EVERY-DAY USE, and for all TOILET purposes.

In the Bath Room, where its cleansing, tonic and healthful effects are experienced upon the cuticle and pores of the skin, it has taken the place of all other soaps, and no one will be without it.

In the Nursery, where mothers are often afflicted with sore nipples, and their children suffer from chafing, rash, prickly heat, sores, etc., its soothing and healing powers make it THE SOAP for every mother's use.

I have used your Soap in my practice extensively, and it has proved the best Healing Soap ever used. It has no equal as a soap for washing the heads and skin of children.

TAKE

No medicine which will increase the derangement of the system already disordered by disease. Violent cathartics that sweep through the bowels like a cataract, prostrating the strength and irritating the delicate membrane of the alimentary canal, are never needful. The best that can be given to persons suffering from dyspepsia, bilious complaints, constipation, or any disorder affecting the stomach, the liver, or the excretive organs, is to tone, cleanse and regulate these important viscera, with TARRANT'S EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT. This agreeable alterative operates the utmost mildness, yet thoroughly restores the functional action of the digestive organs and the intestines, and refreshes and renovates the whole physique. For more than a hundred years the water of the Seltzer Spa has been considered the finest corrective in the world, and this preparation is chemically identical with it. If complaint is indigestion, costiveness, nervous debility, biliousness, gravel, or any affection of the kidneys, remember that the EFFERVESCENT SELTZER APERIENT is not only an unequalled purgative, but also a general invigorant, and that its saline principle has a powerful sanitary effect upon the vitiated secretions and the blood. In an age when the sick exercise their and common sense in determining the merits of a medicine, it seems almost unnecessary to point out the advantages which a specific so gentle, safe and certain in its operation has over the nauseous and pungent drugs which exhaust the bodily energies of the patient, and literally scourge his internal organization, without effecting a radical cure. Invalids, TAKE COUNSEL OF YOUR REASON, and select the remedy which tones while it regulates, and leaves no sting behind.

YOUR

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has been for the space of a generation the Farmer's favorite paper. Besides a complete condensation of the news of the week, a selection of literary and miscellaneous reading, and a full page of the best editorials from the Daily, it contains in every number a greater amount of agricultural matter than is furnished by any distinctively agricultural paper. This is prepared expressly for its columns by the best agricultural writers and practical farmers in the United States; and as its contributors are in every part of the country it will be found equally valuable in New England, in the South, on the Pacific slope, or in the Mississippi Valley. Great attention is paid to all subjects connected with the Farm, the Garden, and the Household, and some of the original articles every week are illustrated with wood-cuts. The market quotations of farm produce, cattle, provisions, breadstuffs, dry goods, and all kinds of merchandise, are exceedingly full and scrupulously accurate. The utmost care is bestowed upon the typographical arrangement of the paper, and the print is always clear and legible, and generally larger than that of any other New York paper.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE has grown very rapidly in public favor of late. In addition to a careful summary of the news, it contains all the best of the foreign and domestic correspondence and leading articles of the Daily:—it gives specially the scientific intelligence (including the proceedings of all American scientific societies), with the best of the book reviews, and the miscellaneous matter relating to education, the arts, religion, &c. It has all the commercial news and market reports; all the agricultural articles of the Weekly; and gives, moreover, regularly, a serial work of fiction, presenting in the course of the year three or four of the latest productions of the most popular novelists. As it takes only a few select advertisements, it may be called, considering the extent and variety of its contents, the cheapest newspaper in the world. It is published every Tuesday and Friday, and reaches nearly every post-office east of the Mississippi within one or two days of its issue.

THE TRIBUNE EXTRAS.

An Illustrated LIBRARY for ONE DOLLAR.

AND

FULL OF PICTURES.

THE DAILY GRAPHIC is an Eight-page Paper, published every afternoon (three editions) in time for the early mails to all parts of the country.

As a newspaper The Daily Graphic stands in the first rank, and contains regularly

The Very Latest and Fullest News from all Parts of the World.

Its great feature consists in the fact that it is not only a newspaper, but an ILLUSTRATED NEWSPAPER as well. Four of its pages are filled with choice reading matter—telegrams, editorials, general and local news, items, gossip, and correspondence on the freshest and most interesting topics. The remaining four pages consist of executed in the most faultless and artistic style, and PORTRAYING ACCURATELY AND FULLY ALL LEADING EVENTS.

THE GRAPHIC COMPANY, with a capital of $500,000, has

ONE OF THE LARGEST AND MOST COMPLETE NEWSPAPER ESTABLISHMENTS IN THE UNITED STATES.

In the great work of illustrating the events of the day, an extensive corps of the best known and most accomplished artists are constantly engaged.

The Daily Graphic aims to be in its strictest sense a NEWSPAPER. Striving always to be just and truthful, it discusses all questions independently and impartially. It is not the organ of any party, sect, or creed. It is always high-toned, and contains nothing to offend any taste. Its contents give it an immense advantage over the "old-fashioned" papers. The annual subscriber gets

A PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE YEAR, a volume of twenty-four hundred pages, constituting a valuable record of events and a graphic panorama of our time and progress. It possesses not merely a local interest, but is a paper for every reader of the language. It is, emphatically,

THE PAPER FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

STILL ONWARD AND UPWARD!

The New York Ledger

FOR THE NEW YEAR, 1874

THE GREAT FAMILY PAPER.

TIMES change; but there is no change in the Ledger, except that of constant improvement. The year which is past is another year added to our experience, and we flatter ourselves that good as we have endeavored to make the Ledger hereto, we shall be able to render it still better in the future.

Our means, in consequence of the generous support which we have received from an appreciative public, are very ample, and we employ them in paying more largely and liberally than any other publisher has ever paid, for the very best original matter.

We have the profound satisfaction of believing that we have succeeded in combining in the Ledger entertainment and instruction; and that while the Ledger is read with the warmest and most intense interest by hundreds of thousands of persons, it is doing as much as any one publication to inculcate sound principles wherever it goes, and to make better men and women of the rising generation.

All kinds of questions which interest the great family of man are answered in the columns of the Ledger; and a great amount of information on matters of Law, Business, Marriage, Love, Housekeeping, the Relations of Friends, Personal Differences, Etiquette, Plans of Life, etc., etc., etc., is thus communicated.

One great and guiding principle with us is to inculcate the sentiments of self-respect and self-reliance, and thus to strengthen and render more manly the characters which are just assuming form, to endure through all their days.

The Ledger is always full of life. Nobody ever complains that even a single number is dull.

It has the largest number of great and distinguished writers.

It contains the purest, sweetest, and most delightful stories, striking narratives, and instructive biographical and historical sketches.

It has the most popular and carefully prepared collection of scientific facts.

Many of the most distinguished clergymen of the country write for it.

All our favorite old writers will continue to write for the Ledger; and we are always on the keen look-out for any new developments of real rising genius.

However hard the times may be we apprehend there is nothing else of the same cost which our readers would not prefer to be deprived of rather than of the Ledger; and we also believe that the lessons of economy and thrift inculcated in our columns do much to prevent hard times, and to mitigate their severity.

Our readers will bear us witness that we are better at performing than at promising; and, with the assurance that, while our experience is greater, our efforts to make the Ledger the best family paper in the world will not be slackened, we leave them to judge our future by our past.

Our Terms for 1874—Now is the Time to Subscribe.

Single copies, $3 per annum; four copies, $10, which is $2.50 a copy; eight copies, $20. The party who sends us $20 for a club of eight copies (all sent at one time), will be entitled to a copy free. Postmasters and others who get up clubs, in their respective towns, can afterward add single copies at $2.50. No subscriptions taken for a less period than one year. Canada subscribers must send twenty cents in addition to the subscription, to pay the American postage. When a draft or money-order can conveniently be sent, it will be preferred, as it will prevent the possibility of the loss of money by mail. The postage on the Ledger to all parts of the country is only twenty cents a year, or five cents a quarter, payable at the office where the paper is delivered.

We employ no traveling agents. Address all communications to

This unanimous decision of the International Jury, affirmed by the Imperial Commission, in classifying this Medal First in order of Merit over all other American Exhibitors, and over more than 400 Pianos entered by nearly all the celebrated manufacturers of Europe, being the final Verdict of the only Tribunal determining the rank of the Awards at the Exposition, place is now conceded to be not only the most perfectly arranged, but at the same time the most extensive establishment of its kind in the world, the official Revenue Returns as published for the years 1866-69 having revealed the startling fact that the number of pianos manufactured by Messrs. Steinway (sixty instruments per week,) and the amount of their sales are more than double those of the next largest manufacturer in America, and exceed those of the twelve largest piano makers of New York combined.

THE STEINWAY PIANOS AT THE HEAD OF ALL OTHERS.

MESSRS. STEINWAY & SONS' MAMMOTH MANUFACTORY

THE STEINWAY PIANOS are preferred to all others by the most celebrated pianists of the world and used by all the principal Concert troupes whenever attainable.

STEINWAY & SONS are the only American firm whose Pianos have a "world wide" reputation, being exported in large and constantly increasing numbers to Europe and all parts of the civilized world. Steinway's Pianos are sought to be copied by nearly all American and European piano makers, many of the latter announcing through the public papers that their pianos are constructed on the "Steinway" system.
